U. S. Withholds
Laos Aid Funds

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The royal government reacted sharply Tuesday to U.S. pressure to yield on a key point blocking formation of a coalition government.

"The pressure now being exercised on the royal government to make it deviate from its duty and dignity is intolerable," said a statement by Finance Minister Phouangpheth Phanareth.

The United States has held up its monthly aid check of $3 to $4 million since the collapse last month of the meeting of Laos' three feuding princes.

Death Sentence

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Chang Do-yung, ousted leader of South Korea's military government, was sentenced to death Wednesday by a revolutionary tribunal.

A five-man court also ordered death for Chang's former secretary, ex-Col. Lee Hoi-yung. Both were condemned for counterrevolutionary acts.

Chang, a former lieutenant general, was army chief of staff at the time of the coup that brought the military government to power last May.

The first session of Chang's trial opened Oct. 27. At a Dec. 23 session, government prosecutors demanded the death penalty for him. He had been on trial with 23 other defendants.

New Newspaper
For Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A group of investors announced plans Tuesday for a new daily afternoon paper in Los Angeles, the Post. They said they expect to begin publication of a Monday-through-Friday tabloid at 5 cents a copy, within 90 days.

Two of Los Angeles' four metropolitan newspapers, the Examiner and the Mirror, ceased publication last week, citing losses.

The Post announcement came at a news conference from Marvin J. McConnell, president of the Small Business News Publishing Co.

Pennsy-Central
Merger Session

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Merger discussions between the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads have reached a point where directors of the two lines are to be briefed on specific proposals, it was announced Tuesday.

A spokesman said separate meetings of the directors will be held Friday to hear the reports on negotiations that began in November.

The merger discussions are the second between the two large Eastern railroads. The Central broke off previous talks in January, 1960.

Both railroads have been having financial difficulties and a merger, as previously discussed, would eliminate overlapping services now performed.

Five Die In Ft.
Hood Collision

FORT HOOD, Tex. (AP)—A big Army tank and a five-ton truck collided at this Texas military base Tuesday, killing five soldiers. Flaming gasoline from the wreckage burned 22 other men.

Three of the dead were identified as Sgt. 1. C. Charles C. Clinkingbeard, 30, Pfc. Duane E. Hainline, 25, and M. Sgt. Charles Strawbridge, 37, all of Killeen, Tex.

The names of the other two dead were withheld.

Group Will Study
GI Indoctrination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department set up a special study and advisory committee Tuesday to provide guidance in indoctrinating military personnel against communism.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., who has accused the Pentagon of censoring military leaders who speak out against communism, promptly said formation of the committee was an admission of shortcomings.

A special Senate subcommittee will open hearings Jan. 23 on Thurmond's charges.

Steel Magnate's
Will Probated

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The will of steel magnate Benjamin Fairless, who died Jan. 1, was probated Tuesday in Westmoreland County Orphans' Court.

Fairless left the bulk of his estate and almost all of his personal effects to his son, Blaine F. Fairless. The will sets aside $10,000 cash to be distributed by Blaine to Fairless' domestic servants.

The late industrialist's residence and grounds, known as "Hawthorne Hill," in nearby Ligonier Twp., are to be held in trust for his four grandchildren.

No announcement of the total value of Fairless' estate was made pending inventory. Fairless made the will last September.

SUKARNO'S SOLDIERS ON STANDBY — Indonesian troops are shown on standby duty with their weapons and vehicles at Bonthain, South Celebes. Indonesian President Sukarno has said that the South Celebes would be the jumping off point for any invasion of West New Guinea.

'War Or Peace' Decision To Be Made By Sukarno Shortly

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The question of war or peace with the Netherlands over Dutch New Guinea will be decided by President Sukarno "within a week or 10 days," Indonesia's foreign minister said Tuesday.

But in the meantime, government sources said, Indonesia would not object if U.N. Acting Secretary-General U. Thant moved to get negotiations started and sat in on the talks or designated Thailand and the Philippines to participate.

Ambassador Calls

Sukarno's delay in reaching a decision on war or peace was made known as U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones called on him in an apparent effort to calm down the belligerent tone sounded by the Indonesian president on a four-day speechmaking tour of the Celebes.

Jones accompanied Sukarno on the tour, during which a grenade was tossed at the presidential motorcade Sunday.

Sukarno said "Dutch henchmen" were behind this fourth attempt on his life in four years. He escaped injury, but four persons were reported killed and 27 injured.

Foreign Minister Subandrio told reporters after a meeting of the national defense council that "within one week or 10 days we will have arrived at a conclusion, and will have the certainty whether steps in the diplomatic field with the Dutch can be of help in solving the West Irian (New Guinea) issue."

Since independence in 1949, the Indonesians have been contending that Dutch New Guinea should be turned over to them. The Netherlands contends the territory is not properly part of Indonesia and that the native Papuans are not Indonesians.

Blame SEATO 'Plot'

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The paper Al Gumhuriya said Tuesday all indications "incriminate Southeast Asia Treaty Organization agents" in the attempt to assassinate Indonesia's President Sukarno.

The paper said the attempt on Sukarno was one in a chain of conspiracies by "imperialist countries against Afro-Asian countries which chose to keep out of military pacts."

SEATO includes the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

Leaders Desert Gizenga To Add To Confusion In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Antoine Gizenga's most influential party colleagues walked out on him Tuesday further splitting the support that once made him a power as the head of the Communist-endorsed regime at Stanleyville.

The self-proclaimed political heir to former Premier Patrice Lumumba also faces the possibility of ouster from his job as deputy premier in the central government and possible arrest. The Congo Parliament demanded that he return to Leopoldville by Wednesday to defend himself against charges of secession.

Leaders Defect

Felicien Kimvay announced the defection of the strongest wing of Lumumba's former political movement, the African Solidarity party.

Kimvay, vice-president of the party, said Gizenga no longer was president of the party because he had in effect resigned to accept leadership of another movement. Kimvay was referring to Gizenga's call for a convention of Palu, a new Lumumbist party. The convention never met and the new party never got off the ground.

A smaller wing of the African Solidarity party stuck by Gizenga, however. This small bloc accused the party leadership of "tribalism and terrorism" and singled out Kimvay and Cleophas Kamitau, the influential president of Leopoldville Province, for criticism.

A further indication of the erosion of Gizenga's leadership was the report from diplomatic sources that his most loyal army leader, Col. Alphonse Pakassa, apparently is shifting his support to the central government.

Parliament voted 66 to 10 with 7 abstentions Monday to give Gizenga 48 hours to return to Leopoldville from Stanleyville. Most of the Lumumbist bloc voted with the majority.

Report Dilworth To Resign
As Mayor Of Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor Richardson Dilworth was reported Tuesday to be planning to resign soon, but the story evoked only a spokesman's assertion the mayor would have nothing to say on that score.

Dilworth is generally considered to be a top man for the Democratic nomination for governor this year.

The Philadelphia Bulletin, in a story by John G. McCullough, said Dilworth is expected to resign effective Feb. 20. It continued: "His obvious reason for quitting the office to which he was twice elected—and in a term which was two more years to run—is to seek the Democratic party's nomination for governor of Pennsylvania."

The Bulletin said the 63-year-old Dilworth will not say in his announcement—expected about Jan. 20—that he is a candidate for governor. Under the City Charter an official seeking a new election post must first resign.

Feb. 20 is the first day for aspirants to file formal petitions for the May 15 primary.

Second Day Of Farm Show
Draws Crowd Of 125,000

HARRISBURG (AP)—Four animals with fancy stage names waddled off with blue ribbons in dairy cattle judging Tuesday at Pennsylvania's agricultural spectacular, the 46th annual State Farm Show.

Swine, sheep, poultry and working horse champions also were chosen, but the dairy cattle competition held the spotlight during the second day of the five-day free exposition.

Despite extremely cold weather, another 125,000 visitors toured the 14 acres of displays and exhibitions, making the two-day total 250,000.

flux of over 3,000 members of the Future Farmers of America and the Future Homemakers of America for their big mid-winter meetings.

State police reported that its size and the number of youths attending the crowd was very orderly, with no unusual incidents.

Traffic and parking so far have not created any of the problems usually attending the farm show, reflecting the slightly smaller size of the crowd over previous years.

One of the more colorful attractions of the show was on the evening entertainment program in the large arena. Sixty teams of gaily dressed men and women strutted in the folk dance festival and contest.

Beers Awarded
Road Contract

HARRISBURG (AP) — J. H. Beers, Inc., Bangor, received a $102,751 contract from the State Highways Department Tuesday to widen and resurface L. R. 4507, 452; between Marshalls Creek and Canadensis.

Harry dePue, Inc. of Bangor received two contracts, totaling $83,090, for work in two other counties.

Green Blames GOP Leaders
For Reapportionment Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William J. Green Jr., said Tuesday it seems certain Philadelphia will lose one of its six congressional seats, but that he would not bow to the inevitable willingly.

Green, Philadelphia's Democratic chairman, asserted: "I am not taking the position that I am willing to give up a seat in Philadelphia. I have never said that I wanted to keep six seats in Philadelphia or give up any."

"All I have ever said was that I wanted an equitable redistricting for Pennsylvania. It is Pennsylvania that is being redistricted, not Philadelphia."

Because the 1960 census showed a Pennsylvania lag in population growth the state must give up three of its 30 House seats. Unless the redistricting is done by Feb. 20, all 27 members will have to be elected on a state-wide basis.

Neither party wants that.

Gov. David Lawrence says he'll call a special session of the legislature to pass a redistricting bill whenever leaders of the two parties agree on its terms.

Green again blamed George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman, for the delay.

Republican leaders, confident their voting power in the state Senate will block any bill they don't want, have said the first move toward agreement should be elimination of one Democratic district in Philadelphia. They said this was justifiable since the city's population decreased slightly.

Green said the inability of Bloom and Otis B. Morse, Democratic state chairman, to agree at a meeting in Harrisburg Monday seemed to him to be further evidence that Bloom stands in the way of a settlement. "He's playing politics," Green said.

Bloom and Morse are scheduled to try again at a meeting in Harrisburg Wednesday.

Soviets Promise Release Of Belgian Plane Immediately

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union promised Tuesday quick release of a downed Belgian airliner but in a protest to Belgium charged the plane violated Soviet air space.

The Belgian Embassy said the Soviet Union charged the plane was forced down at Grozny—275 miles north of Yerevan, the Soviet border town where the Belgians say Soviet fighters made the airliner land Monday.

The Foreign Ministry said there were 18 passengers and eight crew members aboard, all were safe and were staying at a hotel in Grozny. Sabena, the Belgian airline, said the plane carried 19 passengers. Three passengers are Americans. Sabena said an infant was aboard and may not have been counted by the Russians.

The Sabena agent in Moscow said plans are being made to bring the passengers to Moscow, from where they will be flown to the West.

Whether they would be brought to Moscow on the Sabena airliner, a French-made Caravelle twin jet, or would fly in a Soviet plane was not clear.

Vasily V. Kuznetsov, first deputy foreign minister, said instructions were sent to Grozny to release the plane as soon as technical arrangements can be made.

Kuznetsov handed the Soviet protest to Hypolyte Cools, the Belgian ambassador, who is said to have assured the ministry that any air violation was accidental.

The plane was flying from Tehran to Istanbul on a course that carried it close to the Soviet frontier.

47 Below In Montana

Sub-Zero Weather, Snow Envelop Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The coldest weather of the winter hit the broad interior of the nation Tuesday while widespread, heavy snow blocked many roads and shut hundreds of schools.

A hard freeze stretched like a rigid blanket from the Rocky Mountains to Maryland. The mercury drove down to zero or lower in at least 14 states and hit the official bottom at 47 below in West Yellowstone, Mont.

Snow fell in sections of the Southwest, South, Midwest and East, with 20 inches piling up in northern New York.

Seldom have winter's miseries plagued so many regions at one time. Snow closed schools in Mississippi and Minnesota and hindered travel in Wyoming and New York.

Deaths numbered 13 in new reports, including 4 in Indiana, 3 in Colorado, 2 in Texas, 2 in Montana, 1 in Illinois and 1 in Alabama.

Squalls off lakes Ontario and Erie dumped 20 inches of snow on the Lowville district of northern New York, about a foot on areas in the western part of the state and about eight inches on Buffalo. Zero visibility in the Lowville region kept snowplows off roads.

A four-car accident closed the Buffalo Skyway, and traffic was scrambled on many streets in the city.

Near blizzard conditions developed in eastern North Dakota and western Minnesota. Many schools were closed in those states and in Iowa, where winds of 30 m.p.h. made drifts in the blanket of snow on the ground.

Snow or sleet extended from eastern New Mexico across northern Texas and Oklahoma into the Tennessee and Ohio valleys. The storm snarled traffic in Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex.

Snow ranged up to eight inches in Arkansas and lesser amounts fell in Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Traffic moved with difficulty in Arkansas and many schools suspended classes. Ice forced closing of roads leading from southern Arkansas to northern Louisiana.

All public schools were closed in Shreveport, La., where there was half an inch of snow.

Snow pelted Memphis and the lower area of western Tennessee, keeping school children at home.

Some schools and highways were closed in northern Mississippi. Schools didn't open in four counties in central Kentucky.

Skies cleared in Colorado and Wyoming after a foot or more of snow disrupted bus and plane schedules and shut hundreds of schools.

A wave of intense cold rolled southward across the snow-sheathed interior of the country. Temperatures plummeted to -41 in Butte, Mont., -39 in Laramie, Wyo., -32 in Greeley, Colo., -14 in Eau Claire, Wis., -19 in Denver Colo., and Minot, N.D., -16 in Sibley and Elkader, Iowa; -13 in Minneapolis-St. Paul, -7 in Chicago, -6 in Rapid City, S.D., -4 in Kirksville, Mo., -2 in South Bend, Ind., and zero in Frostburg, Md.

Cold wave and hazardous driving warnings were extended southward to the Gulf Coast.

Congress Convenes Today; Faces
Key Issues In Kennedy Program

CONFER ON BERLIN — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, left, stands behind microphones at Wahn airport near Bonn, West Germany, alongside Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who greeted him on his arrival. Macmillan, Adenauer Agree
To Seek Solution On Berlin

BONN, Germany (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer agreed Tuesday the West should pursue its diplomatic probe in Moscow to see if talks on Berlin were possible.

Agreement between the British and West German leaders was announced in a joint communique after daylong talks. It was reached despite Adenauer's comment Monday night that he could not see that the talks in Moscow were getting anywhere.

In their first meeting in nearly a year, the two reaffirmed a determination in common with their allies "to maintain the Western position in Berlin and to defend the freedom and viability of West Berlin."

The communique made no mention of tactics to be adopted should the Moscow effort fail. British officials in London had reported Macmillan was bringing to Bonn a new U.S.-British idea to settle for a status quo agreement, even if only implicit, should the probe fail.

British spokesman John Russell told reporters he knew of no such idea having been discussed by Macmillan and Adenauer. He added, however, he could not say what the two men talked about during their nearly two hours of private conversation. They were joined by aides and their foreign ministers, Lord Home and Gerhard Schroeder.

The communique disclosed that Adenauer offered aid to Britain in meeting the financial burden of maintaining the British army of the Rhine. It did not disclose the amount of aid but said it would include "additional purchase of arms in the United Kingdom on a considerable scale."

The final details of financial aid will be worked out by a committee representing both countries.

Informed sources said the amount was about $100 million a year. This sum would cover about half of Britain's cost of maintaining its 51,000-man army in Germany.

The financial drain on Britain from maintaining the Rhine army has been a sore point between the two nations.

Expect National Debt Limit
Raise To Above $300 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Congress already on notice that President Kennedy wants to raise the national debt ceiling rings up the curtain Wednesday on what probably will be a rousing election year session.

House Democrats got ready Tuesday at a sweetness and light caucus. Without a murmur of dissent they voted to nominate Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts to be House speaker. They made Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma their unanimous choice to step into McCormack's old post of Democratic floor leader.

Thus in the House, which shapes up as this year's major battleground, the chief responsibility for piloting Kennedy's program over legislative shoals will fall on a new leadership team.

Vast Program

Kennedy of course wants a lot more from Congress than a boost that probably will shove the legal limit on the national debt beyond the $300-billion mark for the first time. The ceiling now stands at $298 billion.

High on the President's list are proposals on tariff cuts, medical care for the aged under Social Security, aid to education, tax changes—but no general cut — a new farm plan, higher postal rates.

The President skimmed through the list twice Tuesday, first with McCormack, Albert and other Democratic congressional leaders, then with his cabinet.

The chief executive will unfurl it to public view on Thursday in the annual State of the Union message he will deliver in person to a combined Senate-House session, in the House chamber.

Secret Service agents combed the Capitol in preparation for Kennedy's visit. Workmen scurried around painting, polishing, sweeping—trying to get the place a little tidier for the opening ceremonies.

Rayburn Missing

To the veterans, it is going to seem strange to look up at the House rostrum and not see Sam Rayburn standing there, gavel in hand. He was speaker more than twice as long as any other man. Now he is dead.

This year the gavel will be in the hand of Ralph Roberts, clerk of the House. But not for long. It is just a matter of going through the motions to elect McCormack speaker.

Democrats have a 258-174 edge on the Republicans. That isn't enough to guarantee getting all the Kennedy bills through the House, but it is plenty big enough to make their man speaker.

Republicans still weren't sure whether they would make the gesture of putting their leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, in nomination.

Assumes Leadership

McCormack lost no time in asserting his leadership. He announced no consideration would be given to a proposal by a group of liberals to create a special party policy committee.

Senate Democrats have no leadership vacancies. Senate Republicans must find a successor to the late Styles Bridges of New Hampshire as chairman of their policy committee. The contenders are Sens. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts. The picking will be done in a party huddle Wednesday.

On The Agenda

After Thursday, two more of the three major presidential messages that always mark a new session still will be coming along. The White House said Kennedy will submit his budget—he has promised it will be in balance—on Thursday, Jan. 18, and the annual report on the national economy on Monday, Jan. 22.

Two special messages, with no special times set for them, will convey to Congress the administration's farm and trade-tariff programs. Both of these have been billed as new and bold.

McCormack left a leadership breakfast session with Kennedy Tuesday with word to newsmen that: "I have every confidence that Congress will enact into law the greater part of the President's program."

Molotov's
Whereabouts
Big Question

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The whereabouts of Vyacheslav V. Molotov was a mystery Tuesday night.

Not even the Soviet Foreign Ministry seemed to know where he is.

The ministry announced Monday Molotov was resuming his post as permanent Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna and probably left Moscow Saturday.

If he left Moscow Saturday, he should have arrived here Monday. Reporters and photographers meeting trains and planes for the last two days caught no trace of him, however. Austrian police said there was no chance he might have crossed into Austria without their knowledge. He would have to show his passport like anybody else.

Adding to the puzzle, the Soviet Foreign Ministry in Moscow had two answers to questions about its first report that Molotov supposedly left Saturday.

One was that he would be leaving next Friday or Saturday. The other was that further investigation was required and reporters would have to call back.

Ever since Premier Khrushchev bitterly denounced Molotov and his colleagues of the anti-party group at the 22nd Soviet party congress in Moscow last October, it was generally assumed Molotov was on his final skid. He was removed from his high post in 1957.

There were two lines of speculation here—that Molotov defied Khrushchev and managed to retain his party membership, and his job, or that Khrushchev had decided this was the best way to handle the old Bolshevik.

Senators have a 54-46 edge on the Republicans. That isn't enough to guarantee getting all the Kennedy bills through the House, but it is plenty big enough to make their man speaker.

Republicans still weren't sure whether they would make the gesture of putting their leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, in nomination.

List Social Security Numbers On Tax Returns

BE SURE to list your social security numbers on your 1961 Federal income tax returns. Both husband and wife should list their numbers on a joint return.

This word of caution came from R. P. Brownell, District Director of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service, Scranton District, who also reminds taxpayers that April 15 is the deadline this year for filing their returns.

Some returns are being filed on which one or both social security numbers are omitted, the IRS representative said. Along with checking other entries on the return, taxpayers should double check to make sure that social security numbers are complete and accurate.

When overpayment of social security taxes occurs, because of working at more than one job, space is provided on the return for a credit of the overpayment to any income tax owed, or to any refund due.

Crowe Explains Industry Magnet

PLANS for establishment of a $180,000 fund to be used to attract new industry to Monroe County were outlined at a meeting of the East Stroudsburg Taxpayers Assn. Monday at the home of George N. Kemp Post 346, American Legion.

Montgomery F. Crowe, president of Pocono Mountains Industries, Inc., industrial subsidiary of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, told the group the groundwork for a fund campaign has already been laid in talks with the Nixon-Austin-Ireland Corp., Stroudsburg fund-raising organization.

"We should be able to raise $60,

000 a year for three years to help our own pocketbooks if we can raise $90,000 a year for the Community Chest," Crowe said. "In many ways I consider industrial development every bit as important as the Community Chest."

Crowe said more money is needed if the county is to compete with other areas which offer fully developed industrial parks with readily available utilities as inducements to firms looking for new plant locations.

Crowe announced that an Ohio manufacturing company is interested in building a $2,000,000 plant in the Stroudsburg area which would eventually employ 600 persons.

Taken Options

He said Pocono Mountains Industries has taken options on two undeveloped tracts in the Gravel Place section of Stroud Township which may be used by the company. He said two other competing areas have each offered the firm 50 acres of developed land at no charge.

Crowe said the Pocono area awakened to the need for industrial expansion when Worthington Mower Co. closed its Stroudsburg plant last year. He said prior to that the area's mood was one of self-satisfaction.

Crowe charged the county has been too willing to submit to classification as a resort area and added that an independent survey has shown the county's industries are far in advance of resorts in terms of both production and payrolls.

Crowe said rumors charging several Stroudsburg businessmen with attempts to keep wages low by discouraging new industry are not true.

He said Western Electric Co., one of the firms which reportedly was discouraged, never investigated the Poconos as a possible site for a plant location. He said that companies which did show an interest in the area eventually decided against it, some because there were not enough workers available, other because they were attracted to industrial parks in other areas.

Crowe said Pocono Mountains Industries, despite the handicap of a lack of funds, succeeded in bringing a number of new plants to the county. He said he has spent as much as $1,000 a year of his own money in the search for new industry.

Crowe, a former state senator, said the county's location at the junction of the interstate highway system and the proposed construction of the Tock's Island Dam and reservoir are among the area's best assets for attracting new industry.

"We are on the threshold, if only we are prepared to meet the challenge," he concluded.

Pennsylvania's Part

During this week, the citizens of Pennsylvania will pay special tribute to the Constitution of the United States, the 175th anniversary of which is being celebrated this year. The actual date of the anniversary is September 17, but each of the 50 states has been given a specific week during the year to mark its own observance.

In a day an age when governments and leaders come and go with the day's headlines, it is heartening to note that our national Constitution has stood the test of nearly two centuries of progress at a breakneck speed. It is as strong in our land today as the day it was accepted by the states 175 years ago.

Possibly the reason for this strength lies in the simplicity of its words, which outline the major principles upon which this nation was founded. Some few disagree with its verbiage when it was written; some few still disagree with it today. Yet, with very little change, we hold to the same principles today as our founding fathers did.

Governor David L. Lawrence very aptly summed up the feelings of present day Americans earlier this week in these words:

"Today, as we pay homage to the Constitution of these United States, we renew our faith in the role America can and must play in the future of the world community.

"With this Constitution as our guide, we move forward, without fear, toward a future we are confident can be made better. The faith we feel cannot be measured in words or in theories — it must be demonstrated, in fact and in concrete actions.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Way To Curb Inflation

Primarily because it makes its way so stealthily, inflation remains the number one threat to the fabric of American economic life. Inflation has assumed such dangerous proportions largely through the action of one phenomenon—repetitive wage and salary increases which are not matched by increases in productivity by workers.

When, as has been the case for a number of years, productivity increases no more than 2 per cent, wage raises of 4 per cent can be met only through an advance in prices. A presidential labor-management advisory panel believes that one way to slow down these disproportionate increases is to publicize government wage settlement proposals made under the Taft-Hartley machinery. The idea is a good one.

At present a Taft-Hartley board

"When the Constitution was first written, we proved our faith in America in simpler ways, perhaps. For then our responsibilities were limited to the construction of our own continental defenses, the building of schools and churches in our own communities.

"Today, our obligations to our own citizens and to the remainder of the world have grown. If we are to maintain our internal strength — if we are to pursue the cultural, educational, spiritual and economic goals of excellence our ancestors set down for themselves and for all succeeding American generations — we must keep alive within our own hearts and minds the intense flame of idealism and devotion which guided Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson and the others who made our Constitution possible. These men, no matter what others may think, were men of practical political and spiritual thought. They anticipated the needs of America — they did not try to limit them. They set their sights high, for they did not seek a country whose people would be satisfied with small goals, half-heartedly attempted.

"They saw, far more clearly than any other group of men in their time, the commitment free men must make to their own cause and, at the same time, to the cause of their neighbors.

"So it is, at this point in the 20th Century, that the American Constitution and the American people remain the greatest hope of those determined to become free.

"The least we can do — as private citizens or as public servants — is to rededicate ourselves to that hope, that it may one day be reality."

George Sokolsky

A Scared Publisher

Lord Beaverbrook, a Canadian who has become a leading British newspaper publisher, has built circulation by scaring himself and the British people. "The Sunday Express" in London carried a headline, "Must We Always Take Orders from America?" Since the days of Canning, there have been Americans who have asked, "Must we always take orders from Great Britain?"

In fact, when Winston Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt maintained a private alliance that eventually rescued Great Britain from the voraciousness of Hitler, there were Americans who wondered whether Churchill was not governing this country. In the article to which I refer appears the following:

"If the Government persists in its present course we shall this year enter the Common Market. What does this mean? It means the end of Empire, the end of the British Commonwealth. We shall cease to be an independent country. We shall become members of a European federation. Our lives, our jobs, our security will depend on decisions taken by others. No doubt we shall prosper. But no longer according to our own will."

It is so unfortunate that many Britishers do not realize that the British Empire began to disappear in World War I and that the British people willingly gave up their Empire because it was too expensive to maintain it, too risky to continue to make war to prevent it from falling apart.

Also, the writer of the "Sunday Express" article forgets that the British can no longer depend upon Asians and Africans to do their fighting, that they would have to depend upon the United States, Canada, Australia, and

New Zealand. The British Government is wiser than this chauvinistic newspaper, which says: "From the moment Winston Churchill came to power in 1940 he saw in alliance with America the key first to survival and then to victory. Though he stood up for his own views, in the last resort he always conformed to American wishes."

The historic fact is that when the United States entered upon World War II, the British Empire was smashed. It was the American factory, the American mine and mill, American dollars which finally did Hitler in. Some Britishers complain that we came in too late; nevertheless we rescued Britain.

There are many in this country who shiver too, but not too many and actually they do not count. When Khrushchev banged his shoe on the United Nations desk, we did not shiver; we laughed, we were not frightened. It is important at this stage that the United States and Great Britain and all the Western World unite to stand together in the face of what is happening to mankind. Those who believe that the United States cannot afford to abandon Western Europe are mistaken; the United States, at this stage in history, can afford to adopt a position that will give it greater strength by any means possible.

This is not a selfish policy; it is a conception of the Western World as a unit, to be held together because the preservation of our civilization depends upon that.

The peril to Great Britain is that the British will take seriously the sour notes of British writers who do not understand the middle of the Twentieth Century. They do not realize that the era from Elizabeth I to Elizabeth II has run its course and that the Earth has turned on its axis so that the center of power has shifted from the North Atlantic to the South Pacific and the Indian Ocean.

While the British Empire was being built by brave men, it was also being destroyed by the course of events against which no man can stand. When the United States was formed in 1776, the British Empire began to collapse. When the Kuomintang showed the British out of the Concessions in China in 1926-1927, it was obvious that Britain's days in Asia were counted.

The writer in the "Sunday Express" says:

"A truly independent Great Britain could again speak at Washington with firm, decisive voice. The more we take our own line the more anxious the Americans will be to co-operate with us."

The writer errs. The United States can get along without Great Britain but prefers not to. It is possible that we may still have to fight one more war to preserve ourselves. Whichever way we or the British go, it looks as though we shall have to go together.

The Pennsylvania Story

Senator Scott Looks At Europe

(Editor's Note — Senator Hugh Scott, one of Pennsylvania's two U. S. Senators, recently returned from spending four weeks in Western Europe as an official U. S. delegate to the NATO Parliamentary Conference. His travels took him to the continental Berlin sector. As a "Pennsylvanian abroad" and as a "guest column" writer, he relates some of the "personal" incidents experienced by him and Mrs. Scott as they "forayed" into Communist East Berlin.)

By U. S. Senator Hugh Scott (Part Two)

Harrisburg — The next day, having talked it over with Senator (Claiborne) Pell of Rhode Island, we decided to sound out members of our congressional party to see if they would make a "mass protest march" into East Berlin, the purpose being to demonstrate our sorrow and our resistance to the fact that behind the Iron Curtain there are no free parliaments and there are no free elections and no free speech.

We did go in a body but part of the group got separated and went off in a different direction. Representative (Leslie C.) Arends of Illinois, minority whip of the House, Congressman (Leonard) Forbstein of New York and Mrs. Forbstein and Mrs. Scott and myself went ahead and two of the Vopos stopped us. We became what you might call the "advance group."

It has always been my contention that Communists invariably "go by the book" and if you can do something to confuse them they're lost. They have to send for instructions.

This one Vope said to me in German, "I have to see your pass." Fortunately I speak a fair amount of German so I said in German, "That I won't do." Then he said, "But I have to see it." I then said that this was a pass — this is enough for you — and I showed him my Diner's Club credit card!

Then my wife being helpful and determined with me to mystify them, said to the already highly-confused East German policeman, "Here's another pass" and showed the Vope a picture of our grandchildren, and saying, "I want you to see them."

This really confused the poor Vope; the other fellow was already looking around for the other six Vopos who were in the guardhouse and he went for help, leaving this one with us.

However, the six started walking away. We kept right on walking and our two just gave up and went to this larger group coming over from which we had been separated.

We went over and stayed in East Berlin for around two hours. Significantly, the stores are almost empty. They have nothing but shabby clothes by comparison with West Berlin where the traffic is as heavy as it is in Philadelphia, Harrisburg or Pittsburgh.

There is no traffic in East Berlin. A car comes by about once every ten minutes. You can walk down the middle of the street. There is nothing in the shops to buy. The restaurants wouldn't compare with our smallest snack bar in variety attraction.

It is a dead city. Most of it hasn't been built up again. It has some ugly, drab apartments. We talked with some of the people. Those we talked with wouldn't admit they were communists, but they also wouldn't admit they were unhappy; they would say everything is all right.

One woman came up after we had been joined by the rest of our group and begged us to take her back. In fact she went to Congressman Thomas Morgan (chairman of the House of Foreign Affairs Committee) of Washington County in Western Pennsylvania, and begged Congressman and Mrs. Morgan to take her to the west zone where her husband was.

Of course that couldn't be done. It was a tragic incident. As for our return trip, when we came back the guards had already apparently "lost face" so we passed them on the other side of the street about 30 or 40 feet away and they just waved us on and we officially held our cards ("passports") and kind of laughed at them. They just waved us on. They didn't stop us going back. They could have. They could have demanded passports again, I suppose.

And they knew we weren't East German refugees streaming across the border incognito or anything like that — they recognized us from their previous unpleasant experience when they stopped us going into East Berlin!

Let there be no question about it — we can all be thankful we're right here in this country!

Varsity "E" Club is back in action again with two projects. One is the sponsoring of the appearance of the Tulsa University Choir for its annual concert for the benefit of the Tom L. Waring Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The famed singing organization from Oklahoma will show at the East Stroudsburg High auditorium, Sunday, Jan. 23 at 3:30 p.m.

This group of collegians is ranked with the best in choral presentations and have drawn the applause of area music lovers many times in the past.

The Tulsa invasion of the Pocomos is one of the many projects the late Tom generously offered to the public during his many years in the locality.

The "E" organization also is assisting the Cavaliers basketball team in a food-for-players way. "E" is backing a scorecard for the remaining home games on the ESHS schedule.

The scorecard will have the names of both the Cavaliers and visiting fives and will be distributed free to patrons at the games.

Boosters are being sought to help defray the expenses. Their names will be inscribed on the scorecard, "E" aides report.

Proceeds from this move will be used to buy lunches for 40 players and cheerleaders on Cavalier away trips.

Jean Dougherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dougherty of East Stroudsburg, was honored recently when her picture was printed on the cover of a nationally known magazine.

Miss Dougherty, an East Stroudsburg High School graduate, is studying technical nursing at a Baltimore, Md. hospital.

Jean was selected from scores of photogenic individuals as the ideal candidate for the magazine's cover girl.

Yugoslav Officers At Cuban Anniversary Review

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—The most startling "exhibit" in Cuban dictator Castro's ostentatious celebration of his revolution's third anniversary was not the Russian MIGs flying overhead or the Red tanks and other weapons in the military parade.

The real jolt was in the reviewing stand—in the form of some 30 Yugoslav officers, about one-third of them airmen.

Sharply intensifying the significance of this surprise are these factors:

The presence of these Yugoslav officers has been cloaked in drum-tight official secrecy. Neither Havana nor Belgrade has said anything about them either before or since the celebration.

Their dramatic appearance on the reviewing stand adds powerful confirmation to Intelligence and refugee reports that a group of Yugoslav military officers had arrived in Cuba for training purposes.

According to these sources, this unit has been in Cuba since early December, engaged primarily in training jet pilots and anti-aircraft forces for Castro.

State and Defense Department officials acknowledge knowing about this development. One authority indicated the latest information came from a highly respected Western diplomat.

It is understood he reported seeing the Yugoslav officers in uniform in the reviewing stand.

But beyond confirming their awareness of this extraordinary situation, State Department and Pentagon officials are declining to comment. They explain the matter has many ramifications, and nothing can be said until a thorough study now underway has been completed.

There is no doubt as to the existence of a number of jarring ramifications.

Strange "Neutral" — Foremost among them is the fact that Yugoslavia is one of the largest beneficiaries of this country's economic and military aid programs.

But for this massive U.S. succor, Marshal Tito could not have stood up against the late tyrant Stalin.

Since 1946, the U.S. has given Yugoslavia a total of $2.123 billion in aid; $1.438 billion economic, $684 million military. Another $1.8 billion was granted Tito in loans and credits—for an overall total of around $4 billion.

That still isn't the whole story. Other intriguing facets are:

A number of Yugoslav airmen are now undergoing training as jet pilots in the U.S.

Several months ago, the U.S. sold 130 F-86D Sabrejets and 24 jet trainers to Yugoslavia at give-away prices. Approximately half of these planes have been delivered. This column disclosed that a number of them were shipped from West Coast ports on two Yugoslav freighters, enroute to Yugoslavia, made a five-day stop in Havana under a complete black out.

In late December it was announced the U.S. had decided to sell $40 million of wheat to Communist-ruled Yugoslavia—to be paid for in its currency. The U.S. already has more than $100 million in such counterpart funds in Yugoslavia.

At the express request of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the U.S. military attached in Belgrade made a detailed inspection of the delivery of the F-86s and jet trainers shipped on the two Yugoslav freighters. His report is still classified and not available for publication.

However, members of Congress are intensely interested in these findings, and Secretary of State Rusk will be questioned about them.

A Navy report on Yugoslav relations with Castro is a arousing keen congressional interest. This study discloses that the number of Yugoslav ships arriving in Cuban ports more than doubled in 1961. These vessels carried cargoes both to and from Cuba.

More Red Agents—Russia is preparing to train more trouble-makers in Latin America. The Soviet Union has established a school especially for this purpose. It has been given the magnificent title of "Scientific and Research Institute for Latin America." Headed by S. S. Mikhalov, a veteran Communist organizer, the Institute will "train cadres of experts to go to Latin America to contribute to the development and strengthening of relations between those countries and the Soviet Union"—and stir up as much opposition as possible to the U.S. . . . Egyptian dictator Gamal Nasser is busily playing all sides to the middle, as usual.

On the heels of obtaining a large quantity of U.S. grain for his currency, Nasser is sending a mission to Red China to negotiate a new trade agreement. His aim is to increase trade between the two countries . . . Indonesia is threatening war against the Netherlands over West New Guinea, but the Washington ambassadors of the two countries had an amiable talk at a reception by Nicaraguan Ambassador Sevilla-Sacasa, dean of the diplomat corps. When photographers asked Indonesian Ambassador Zain and Dutch Ambassador Van Roijen to pose together, the former struck a truculent pose, Grinned Van Roijen, "That's very good. It will make a big hit in your homeland. You look very tough and hard to deal with. It should win you a promotion or at least a decoration." Zain laughed. Senator Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., member of the Foreign Relations Committee, watching the incident remarked, "Washington's a rare place. Photographs and champagne before declaring war."

Canada's "Tagged" issue will have First Day Sale January 13th. Postmaster General Hamilton announced seven issues for 1962, four will be commemoratives and three will be part of the regular series.

The Commemoratives will be in the usual five-cent values and the first will emphasize the role of education and its importance to the individual and to the nation.

The year 1962 has been designated as Education Year and this issue will help to publicize education. The second will honor Lord Selkirk and the Red River Settlement he founded, the third will honor an explorer Jean Talon, and the fourth will mark the centennial of Victoria, the capital of British Columbia.

Two of the new regular series will be replaced with a new portrait of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth. A new design for the one dollar stamp is also contemplated sometime during 1962.

Art Of Seeing

By MARCIA CLAPP

HAVE YOU ever paused to watch the changing colors and reflections in water? Or experienced the peace of quiet contemplation beside a placid lake?

Thomas Kensett, who was born in Connecticut in 1817, painted many scenes using a lake, river or sea as his focal point of interest. In this painting of Lake George, the mood is serene, the details precise and skillfully executed. The rocks and grasses in the foreground are meticulously painted. In the middle distance the islands recede with subdued detail of foliage and color, silhouetted against the subtly suggested mountains.

Kensett studied with his father and uncle, who were engraver, and painted in his leisure time. In 1840 he went abroad and made many sketches which he took to his studio in New York City to develop into paintings. His technique is purely descriptive, using thin pigment and a rather dry precision, he corded landscapes in a minor key of content and color.

Preferred East

Although he took a Western trip in 1866 he preferred the more intimate scenery of the East. Until his death in 1872 he was perhaps the most popular and prolific artist of the Hudson River School of Painting.

Merchant patrons made possible the development of several of the foremost painters of this school. These merchants were more than buyers of pictures, they were collaborators in developing the art of painting in America. Their interest in a literal translation of the visual world, verifying every detail, supported this phase of painting in the latter half of the nineteenth century.

We are fortunate today, in the Poconos, having several business men who buy paintings and encourage the development of art in our community.

PP&L Sets New Marks In Output

AMERICA'S electric utility companies, in 1961, set new sales records and reached an all-time high in the amount of power produced. Pennsylvania Power & Light Company, the electric company serving the local area, produced and sold more kilowatt-hours than in any previous year.

These achievements were pointed out yesterday by Charles E. Oakes, PP & L board chairman, in a "preliminary review of 1961 from both a Company and industry standpoint." The utility executive also stressed that PP & L, and the industry as a whole, now have a higher generating capability than ever before and "stand ready to produce all the power their customers need and want."

Oakes pointed out that the output of electric energy by investor-owned utilities was about five per cent higher than in 1960. Transmission lines of 22,000 volts or more increased in the one year by some 15,000 miles, the equivalent of crossing the United States five times. Generating capability increased by some 7-1/2 per cent.

"The gain in power-producing capability is significant from an international standpoint," the utility board chairman said. "America's generating capability now stands in the neighborhood of 205 million kilowatts. Russia's is stated at about 74-1/2 million kilowatts. The USSR ranks second in world power supply."

Preliminary estimates, according to Oakes, indicate that the nation's investor-owned electric companies spent close to $3.5 billion for plant and equipment in 1961. Their expenditures were third largest in the companies' history and were equivalent to over ten per cent of the new construction by all America's business.

The PP & L executive noted that, on a national and local level, much of the revenue gains that resulted from higher sales were absorbed by "the rising costs of doing business." As one example, he stated that the companies had a total tax bill in their electric operations of about $2.45 billion — $120 million more than in 1960. About 24 cents out of each dollar paid by electric utility customers went for taxes, he said. Customers of government-owned and government-financed power agencies escape most of these tax payments; only about three cents of their electric dollar went for taxes in 1960.

Turning specifically to PP&L, Oakes said that all classes of customers in 1961 increased their electric usage. This indicates more electrical conveniences put into use and a resulting higher standard of living in Central Eastern Pennsylvania homes. It represents new stores, restaurants and other commercial establishments as well as increased activities among already existing customers in the group. It also indicates a substantial second-half upward movement in industrial activity. All of these mean jobs and payrolls and a beneficial effect on the Central Eastern Pennsylvania economy.

The record high in kilowatt-hour sales was translated into a new high level for the Company's gross revenue. However, net income improved only modestly, Mr. Oakes said. The increase in the year's expenditure for fuel, wages, materials, supplies and taxes absorbed most of the gain in revenues which increased sales brought about.

Falcons Seeking Members

THE members of the Falcons Drum and Bugle Corps will begin practice at 7 p.m. today.

The corps is now accepting applications for men wishing to become members. This past parade season, the Corps became one of the top parade Corps in the area.

Some of the many achievements the past season were such prizes as first place in the four county firemen convention at Fullerton, Pa. First place in the firemen centennial parade at Millford, N. J.

July 1961 the Falcons traveled to Erie and were 2nd place winners of the state-wide American Legion Convention.

The Falcons also won many more second, third and fourth places in competition this past year.

This year the Falcons hope to make their Corps bigger and better than the past. At the present there are openings for 10 buglers, five drummers and 10 color guardsmen.

Dear Abby

A New Precedent!

Dear Miss Van Buren: Sixty years ago, when I was a young man, I read in the newspaper that a husband had charged his wife with "stealing" because she picked his pockets. The judge said she was not guilty because she had a right to pick his pockets. When a judge hands down a verdict on some case which has never before been settled in court, his verdict establishes a precedent and becomes "law."

Abby, you said in your column that a wife has no business picking her husband's pockets. I am sure if you had known of this law you wouldn't have given that answer. Respectfully,

G. G.

Dear G. G.: I am not qualified to give legal advice. But it is possible for one to be LEGALLY right and MORALLY wrong. I still say it is morally wrong for a woman to pick her husband's pockets.

Smallpox Cases In England

LONDON (AP)—Isamat Khan, a Pakistani, who arrived in Britain from Karachi on Christmas Day, died of smallpox yesterday in the isolation ward of a Kent hospital.

Two cases of confirmed smallpox have been registered since Khan flew in. Both were Pakistanis from Karachi, where a smallpox epidemic is raging. A nurse who contacted Isamat Khan when he first reported at a London hospital has been isolated as a smallpox suspect.

Passengers arriving by plane from Germany are being vaccinated as they fly in. Three cases of smallpox were reported last week in a German family at Dusseldorf.

Support Indonesia

SINGAPORE (AP)—The leftist Barisan Sosialis—Socialist Front—party has introduced a motion in the legislative Assembly in support of Indonesia's claim to Dutch ruled West New Guinea.

Dear Abby: My husband drives a truck for a living and is gone for a week at a time. I got pretty lonesome and started thinking about accepting a date with a certain man who told me he didn't love his wife and had had a secret yearning for me for years. I made the date with him and was all set to go. Then I read the letter in your column signed HIGH AND DRY. That changed my mind. Abby, I will never get that lonesome again. Thanks for opening my eyes before it was too late. I wouldn't risk losing my husband and children for anything.

JUST IN TIME

Dear Abby: My fiancé and I are about to announce officially our engagement by having a picture put in the newspaper. I have seen pictures of a girl and her fiancé together on occasions like this, and I want very much to do the same. My fiancé is giving me trouble. He says it is corny and stupid, and I should go ahead and give the society editor my own picture and leave him out of it. I had my heart set on a nice picture of both of us but want to know if I am wrong or does he have a point?

GETTING MARRIED

Dear Getting: A picture of "the couple" is entirely proper if it is the paper's policy to accept it. Some do and some don't. After you've learned this, don't disregard your fiancé's feelings, or more could develop than a picture.

Dear Abby: It's always the woman who gets deceived. I fell for a pretty little red-haired doll who told me she was wasn't married. Ten months and $3,000 later I found out she was married. Please print this for all the men who get blamed for being the rats.

Are things rugged? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and don't forget a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Three Local Young Men Enlist In Army

SGT. DONALD K. Smith, Stroudsburg, Army recruiter, announced yesterday that three young men from this area recently enlisted in the Regular Army.

Enlisting were William B. Custard, son of Mrs. Hazel Custard of 1729 Pokano Ave., Stroudsburg. William entered service under the Army's guaranteed Schooling Program and upon completion of basic training will attend Finance Procedures School at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. He is a graduate from the Stroud Union High School and Churchman's Business School.

Edward Melvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Halsey Melvin, of 125 N. 9th St., Stroudsburg, chose enlistment under the Career Field Plan and upon completion of basic training he will serve in the administration field. Ed is also a graduate of the Stroud Union High School and Church-man's Business School.

The third enlistee was Gilbert Hastings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hastings, of 64 S. Kistler St., East Stroudsburg. Gilbert enlisted in the Regular Army unassigned.

Sgt. Smith said that he has just received a new list of schools for young men and women that are planning enlistment between now and April. For further information phone: HA 1-4911.

DEPOT officer reaches another milestone.

Allow Delay In Marine Enlistments

IT IS NOW possible for qualified young men to enlist in the United States Marine Corps and remain at home up to four months prior to reporting for duty.

As explained by local Marine Corps Recruiter Sgt. Ralph Laros, the 120-day delay program offers many advantages to the man that is giving serious thought to his military obligation.

First, the four months that is spent at home counts toward the total longevity for pay purposes. Every man entering military service receives an automatic increase in pay after four months.

Finally the 120 days following enlistment before beginning training counts toward promotion. Time in each rank is required before eligibility for promotion to the next higher rank.

Details regarding this program can be obtained by contacting Sergeant Ralph L. Laros at Stroudsburg Post Office.

University Voids Trujillo Titles

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The University of Santo Domingo stripped the late Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo of all academic titles yesterday. The provisional university council took the action as the university reopened with full autonomy for the first time in 31 years.

Trujillo was divested of titles as rector, honorary doctor, and titular professor of the law school. The university council called the award of these titles to the late dictator "shameful stains" on the school.

Other members of the Trujillo family also were relieved of honorary degrees and more than 30 professors were suspended for alleged Trujillo ties.

Lehigh U Make Telstar Tests

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Lehigh University reports that the Telstar has successfully withstood tests simulating the strain it will undergo when the broadband communications satellite is shot toward an orbit in April. Lehigh tested the 34-inch sphere for Bell Telephone Company which will conduct tests with Telstar.

Phillips Advanced To Major

EDWARD L. Phillips, a native of Seco, Kentucky, now stationed at the U. S. Army Signal Corps Depot, Tobyhanna, reached another milestone in his highly successful military career recently when he advanced from the rank of captain to major.

A veteran of 18 years service with the Army, Major Phillips received his promotion from Lt. Col. Hubbard Plunkett, commanding officer of the 972nd Signal Battalion. Phillips serves in the capacity of battalion S-3, which places him high up in the chain of command.

Major Phillips is one of a distinguished group of Army officers who started at the bottom (as a private), and worked his way up. He earned a battlefield commission with an outstanding performance during the Korean conflict, and has been an officer ever since.

He is married, and has two sons, Kenneth, age 16, and Terry, age 15, both of whom attend high school in Mt. Pocono. His wife, Stella, hails from Whitwell, Tenn.

Musicians Union Is Challenged

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Twenty-nine area band leaders have challenged the right of the Musicians Union to set salary scales without consulting the union membership or the band leaders. A suit filed by the leaders in U.S. District court also contends the union is pricing band music out of the available market. The present Saturday night scale is $25 for three hours.

Probe Blast In Scranton

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Investigators said yesterday they believed an accumulation of natural gas was responsible for an explosion which wrecked a barber shop and injured two persons. There were two gas heaters in the shop and it was believed the flame went out in one of them. Those injured Thursday night were Florino Tal-arico, 63, owner of the shop, and Carl Smith, a customer. The concussion shattered a window in a bank across a street.

South Wayne Students Praised

NEWFOUNDLAND—Area residents have reason to be proud of the academic achievement of students of Southern Wayne Joint School, and the program of the school itself," said Clayton Northup, vocational agriculture instructor and guidance counselor this week.

"Seven of our junior class students recently completed Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests, an examination very similar to those require by most colleges for entrance. All seven scored highly in all categories, placing in the 80 to 90 percent, with some students placing in the 95 per cent group, particularly in mathematics.

"This is based on national scores, not on local scores. Our students, competing with students from every high school in the United States, including large joint-ures and suburban and city schools, stand in the top ten per centile," he noted.

Fountain Is There
"This is a direct substantiation of the fact that a small school can effectively provide education . . . the fountain of knowledge is there, if the individual students choose to drink from it!"

Mr. Northup, who recently completed work on his master's degree in education at Pennsylvania State University during a Sabbatical leave from the local school, points out that the home, the school and the community all share an important part in influencing the lives of students. He also notes that it is a sad commentary on public opinion that academic achievement often fails to get public recognition as do athletics.

Commenting on the records of the six junior class members in the testing program, Mr. Northup said, "They competed against the elite of the country and joined the group at the top in academic achievement."

The seven students included Donna Bartleson, Yvonne Rochfort, Shirley Jones, Joan Bancroft, Robert Duty, Barry Kistler and James Lee.

Methodist Young People Make Plans

EIGHTY Methodist Churches of Scranton District of the Wyoming Conference were represented by 133 young people at the opening meeting of the Scranton District Youth Choir at Carbondale First Methodist Church recently.

It was announced that Mrs. Margaret Akers, of Honesdale, will direct this year's choir, succeeding the Rev. Robert Lukens, who has directed the choir for the seven years of its existence.

Mrs. Akers announced that the dates for the music festivals have been changed from February 18 and 25 to February 25 and March 4. The first date is for the concert at Honesdale; the second at Scranton.

The Scranton site of the concert has also been changed this year. The program will be presented at Ashbury Methodist Church instead of Elm Park, because of renovations at the latter church.

February 4 was set as a try-out date for soloists and featured groups.

The youth choir was welcomed to Carbondale by the Rev. Theodore Hubbard, host minister. The Rev. James Wert, Scranton District Director of Youth, opened the season's first practice session with prayer and the expressed hope that "this choir will be able to express its Christian faith through music."

Area Chapter Of FFA To Meet Jan. 11

NEWFOUNDLAND—Greene-Dreher Chapter, Future Farmers of America, will meet on January 11 at 8 p.m. at the school to complete preparations for the special assembly program the unit will present at Southern Wayne Joint School on Friday, January 12, at 3 p.m.

An invitation to anyone interested in the program was issued by Clayton Northup, advisor of the FFA.

The assembly program will be on the subject of Fallout, and will be a demonstration lecture touching on what fallout is; how it can be combatted and detected; protection available; and radiation sickness.

Soviet Labor Laws Violated

MOSCOW (AP)—Violation of labor laws protecting women and juveniles in the Soviet Union was reported yesterday. An official report in the newspaper Kazakhstan Pravda said the violations took place in the city of Chzhezdzgan in the Soviet republic of Kazakhstan. Elementary sanitary conditions have not been provided for women at factories, the report said, and, "juveniles are employed in hard and harmful work."

Career Women Increasing In Business World

By Roberta Fleming Roesech

What's the past, present and future of America's women at work?

In the past, according to a report from Science Research Associates of Chicago, women have been entering the labor force for varying reasons and at increasing rates ever since 1900.

In the present, more than one-third of all women of working age are working. Over half of these women are married. Of all married women, more than 30 percent work. And, during the sixties, women workers are expected to increase at nearly twice the rate male workers increase.

Look Ahead

Show that by 1970, estimates show that 30 million women will be holding jobs — 6 million more than in 1960. Estimates also indicate that by 1970 at least two out of every five women will work, except for teen-age girls and women of sixty-five or older.

In addition, a much higher proportion of women with children in school or past school age will be employed — though if your present desires and plans don't include leaving your family circle to go to work, don't worry about it. Instead, calm your quins by the findings of Dr. Anne Steinmann, psychotherapist and assistant professor of psychology at Hofstra College.

Results Of Study

In a recent study of the feminine role conducted by Dr. Steinmann, results showed that some married women willingly give up careers to stay home. For these women, seeking expression through their relationships with their families is all the fulfillment they need.

For the women who want, or need, to work now or in the future, however, today's employment statistics spotlight the human picture that women in the sixties are penetrating, and will continue to penetrate, new fields.

For instance, the past years have seen a relatively large increase in the number of women engineers. Plus this, current employment predictions point to more and more opportunities for trained women in the fields of engineering as well as science.

Women working in computer technology and programming are helping solve technical problems in statistical and numerical analysis. Since 1940 there has been a steady upswing in the number of women holding top jobs in industry and banking.

A record high of lady lawmakers — 329 — now serve in state legislatures. And President Kennedy has installed some 50 women in executive jobs in his administration.

Do Many Jobs
While one-eighth of today's working women are professional and technical workers, three-tenths are clerical workers. One-fourth are service workers and one-seventh are operators in factories or similar places of employment.

Army Of Working Women Has Grown Steadily Since 1900.

In spite of these job trends, though, women who want to make the best use of their abilities still face some problems in planning for their present and future working lives.

Mainly, these problems concern themselves with (1) obtaining more widespread education and training (2) developing alternate skills because of changing job patterns and automation (3) combating employment restrictions because of physical and psychological factors and (4) resolving the conflict about women's roles.

She tells me the Heart Committee and the National Foundation are very careful not to trespass on each other's campaign dates, and right now, of course, the National Foundation has its fund raising drive under way.

Pete Wyckoff was discussing his work as county chairman on Monday morning's radio program, and delighted everyone with his description of the little March of Dimes Poster Girl whom he met at a meeting in New York. Pete says she is a charming child, of kindergarten age, who pedals merrily around on a plastic cart, dispensing smiles and good will everywhere, and making your heart beat faster and maybe your eyes fill up with tears because it is partly due to your own dime that this delightful little girl, and scores like her, are no longer bed-ridden.

As we become older, I think most of us realize that life isn't worth a plugged nickel unless we help others as much as possible. Fortunately, most persons truly try to do as much as they can, and feel badly they cannot do more. If this were not so no campaign would succeed . . . but, because of this great force of conscience or human love, much has been accomplished in many fields and much more will be. As Pete, and this year's slogan, remind us, "Your dimes can do it AGAIN."

Another visitor today — by telephone — was Mrs. Victor Taylor, whom I love to call "Lilye K." She has been ill with a cold at her home and has been suffering, as you may know, from injuries suffered in rather recent falls. Regardless of all this she is full of fun and vitality, and we at Wyckoff's are always happy when she "holds court" at a table in our Tea Room, during her sojourns at home between travels.

Incidentally, quite a few paintings have arrived thus far for our Art Show, the very first entry being Dorothy M. Philipp's oil of Trophy Point, which I immediately recognized as a West Point site overlooking the Hudson River. Mrs. Philipp is a resident of Phillipsburg, N. J., who classifies herself as an amateur.

We pass along the credit to YOU, who gave so generously in answer to our reminders.

Designers Unveil Latest Fashions This Week In New York Just Between Us —

By Bobby Westbrook
Daily Record Family Fare Editor

NEW YORK — With the showings of 1962 fashions by the designers of the New York Couture Group barely begun, the nation's fashion press were greeted at breakfast with predictions for fashions 1987.

Feeding measurements of the fashion highlights of the past 25 years into UNIVAC: such silhouettes as the geometrical of 1937, the bias cut, the mannish shoulders, the sack and bubble, and 1961's "little nothing" flare, the programmers came up with statistical predictions.

Since women can't wear statistics it took the human brain of Coty Fashion Award winner, Bill Blass, to translate them into clothes. The results are appearing in Look magazine's 25-year prediction issue just out.

Prediction For 1987

In 1987, day-time hemlines will be about four inches below the knee. Evening gowns will have necklines plunging so deep it will show the wearer's navel.

The predictions were of immediate interest to fashion editors since with their breakfast coffee they saw the 1962 designs of Bill Blass, designer for Maurice Rentner, who this year presented the first of the individual collections.

Bill Blass may have been a little carried away by his own predictions since his 1962 collection also included one evening dress in a beige wool mesh whose plunging neckline, while it didn't quite reach the navel, did reveal a lot of white area below the model's extensive suntan.

Otherwise the Rentner collection might well serve as a copybook illustration of the trends revealed in the watch-for forum and the International Silk Assn. showings of the night before. And he did leave the hemline just where it has been for several seasons.

"The Tailleur" is a Bill Blass favorite and he does it superbly in both costumes and dresses. The Rentner signature collection featured detailing such as the baroque scroll and eyelash fringing, used with restraint. However, when they went to ruffles they went all the way, using them in tiers, in diagonal cascades or vertical ruffles on shaft dresses.

Other Interesting Resigns

More sculptured were the diagonal lines used on slanted hemlines or at the hip line. Of interest were his "chachet" suits with jackets brief and gently shirred into a wide-banded neckline, creating a cape-like effect; and his prophetic "coquille" dresses with a shell-shaped bodice fanning upward from the waistline to form a softly-draped sleeve.

David Gothe, in the second spot this year, in his "now and forever" dresses reflected the upward movement in midriff embroidery, in short boleros fluttering out in back, in bosom drapery. His ruffled dresses were sometimes crisp, sometimes floating. As usual his evening clothes were rich with the jeweled embroidery and re-embroidered lace for which he is famous. In one chiffon dress using 40 yards of material he combined cyclamen, apricot and citron with imagination.

Carmel is famous for his day-time suits and coats, soft and pretty, but never fussy. In carefully mated costumes, the blouses were often of self-material to achieve the look of a dress under the jackets. His jackets varied from two inches below the waist to fingertip length. Among his coats were gentle princess lines and relaxed reefers.

Ben Reig, noted for his "little" black dresses at big prices, in this collection also used color freely. He presented as the specialty of the house froth-knit wool in navy or nearly-white suits, or a lacquer red with a side-fold skirt and turquoise blouse. However the press still hailed his black dresses: slender and sleeved with a diamond-cut neckline, or with pleated panels and flutter hemline, or floating panel backs.

SPRING 1962 minting — a coat costume of wool Glen plaid in peppermint pink and white with a pink linen blouse — from Maurice Rentner's collection by Bill Blass. The coat, tailored with patch pockets on the slant, falls short of a matching front-paneled skirt.

PEACOCK BLUE for Spring 1962 — a princess coat of diagonal weave boucle tweed from George Carmel's collection. Seaming on the sides curves into the waistline and extends to set-in pockets. (Lilly Dache hat, Kislay gloves)

The Trifari jewelry buffet supper was more than wholesome; it was delicious: lobster thermidor, tenderloin, ham and turkey with finger rolls, shrimp, avocados in the salad, almonds in the string beans, and strawberries on the meringue.

But the biggest surprise was the R&K Originals party at what used to be the El Morocco. About 200 fashion editors, by now bedraggled rather than fashionable, bussed through the downpour, expecting the usual night club entertainment, but wanting to see clothes at a price range most of their readers will be buying.

What a shock they were in for: gone the zebra seats and the sophistication. Instead there was the Strollers Theatre Club, lifted in decor and entertainment straight out of an English Music Hall of the turn of the century. The waitresses were in gingham with leg of mutton sleeves and kirtles, the bar men in striped vests and high collars and entertainers straight from London.

When the music hall "turns" started everybody waited for them to get lewd or nude or naughty—but they played it absolutely straight and the first thing you know everybody was joining in the choruses of "Hold Out Your Hand, You Naughty Boy" or "Vip I Addy I Ay-ing" right along and having a wonderful time.

It would be a switch if the fashion press return to their hamlets across the land with the news that hats are hatter, women's clothes more womanly, and that the newest newslust fun in the big bad city was of the good, clean variety, where you could take the children.

Many and strange are the invitations which pour in on the fashion press during fashion week from outside interests. One that couldn't be ignored was one from a Mary Brown to Mouse House, at least not by your representative who had barely survived a full-scale invasion of field mice, as you well remember.

Mouse House, turned out to be Mary Brown's apartment of shabby gentility, cluttered but very homelike, in the 80's. It got its name years ago when she invited the fashion press to have tea and hear about her accounts, and they came, 150 of them, in one room not as big as yours.

The invitation was for tea—and tea she served, which isn't always the case these days. Liberia is among her accounts, and there were samples of Liberian material and jewelry. There was also a shopping bag of samples of her other clients, including a bank which gave a penny — and a designer's tile embellished with a whole tea party full of mice, which will be perfect for my own tea parties.

Fashion editors might well begin to feel like mice — the amount of nibbling they're doing. Yesterday they somehow got involved in three breakfasts.

At Enume's breakfast, her hats by Adolphe were as delicious as the buns. She startled even the unsprisable press with her reversible hats: restrained hats of finely tucked chiffon in a coffee color which reversed to an explosion of field flowers.

At the millinery breakfast men entered the fashion scene including Hugh O'Brien, the Wyatt Earp of Television, and Kurt Kreitzer of "Sound Of Music," in addition to the many male designers.

Speaking of celebrities, Monroe County has at least one at press week in David Gothe, who's show came early on the first day. And through David we might even meet more celebrities since David is escorting Mrs. Robert Wagner to the cocktailparty marking the retrospective exhibit of Willy Pogany's work this week.

And the late Willy Pogany, international known artist, often visited David at his home at Little Pond Farm, on Franklin Hill. So I guess that makes us famous, too—well, by proxy.

BLACK and white version of the "cachet costume," named for its capelike jacket — from Maurice Rentner's Spring 1962 collection by Bill Blass. Designed in chevron-printed silk, the costume combines a sleeveless, yoked dress with a jacket fully-shirred from the banded neckline.

Mounties Drop League Tilt To Zephyrs

Loney, Bisbing Sparkle In Second Straight Loop Loss

A SECOND period let-down cost Stroud Union a chance for its first Lehigh Valley League win Tuesday night, as Whitehall scored a 68-57 victory at Stroudsburg.

In that fateful second period, Whitehall pumped in 18 points, while The Mounties scored only eight. In the three other periods, the teams battled on even terms.

It was one of the best games coach Bob Wert's team has played this year and the top losing effort. The Mounties had little trouble solving the Zephyrs 1-2-2 zone and when Whitehall twice put on all court presses, Stroud Union whipped right through the defensive charge.

Loney, Bisbing Team

Senior Warren Loney and sophomore Glenn Bisbing did most of the damage for the Mounties.

Loney, hitting mostly on corner shots mixed with several driving lay-ups, scored 22 points. He also hauled in most of Stroud Union's first half rebounds.

Bisbing, having his best night in his two-year varsity career, tallied 15 points, mainly on short jump shots. Ed Nevil had 16 points, Dave Pierson 16 and Danny Hill and Henry Ray two points each for the short-handed Mounties, who had only seven men in uniform because of sickness and injuries. Tom Wavrek was the top scorer in the game with 24 points. The Zephyr pivotman swished in 24 points, using a turn around jump shot to do the most damage. Tim Meyers added 16 points.

Stroud Union, working ball for a percentage shot, led for most of the first period but was never able to build more than a point or two spread.

Near the end of the opening frame, Wavrek scored back to back baskets to push Whitehall in front 13-9. But Loney scored five points in the final minute and a half and Meyers bagged a jump shot, to give Whitehall a 15-14 first period lead.

Trade Baskets

Loney looped in a one-hander from the corner second after the second period open to push Stroud Union ahead and Wavrek and Pierson traded baskets to keep the Mountie one-point spread. But that was the last lead Stroud Union held.

Whitehall scored seven straight points in the next minute and after Nevil scored on a jumper, Whitehall added five more points.

At the half, Stroud Union trailed 33-32 and the two teams traded scoring streaks in the third period. Whitehall would push the lead to 13 and Stroud Union would just as quickly chop it back to eight. But eight points was as close as Stroud Union could come in the third period. Loney had 11 of his team's 17 third period points.

The slim senior had almost every Whitehall defensive move doped out. When the Zephyrs pressed him, Loney drove and scored and when the defenders lagged Loney popped over their heads.

For a brief period in the fourth quarter, Whitehall threatened to turn the game into a rout and with 6:20 left, led by as much as 18 points. But in the stretch, Loney and Pierson teamed up on several fast breaks to trim the bulge. Whitehall won the junior varsity game 39-29. The winners had period scores of 7, 8, 21 and 3.

Pocono Mountain almost doubled the Slaters' field goal production. The Cards bagged 21 field goals and Bangor 11.

John Head was the top Slater point producer, collecting 10 points. Frank Holland had seven points and John Snyder scored five.

Pocono Mountain almost doubled the Slaters' field goal production. The Cards bagged 21 field goals and Bangor 11.

From the foul line, Bangor converted seven of 12 chances and Pocono made good on 13 of 26 tries.

The Cards tapered off in their scoring in the second half but still came up with 23 points. Bangor had only six points in the third period and dipped to four in the finale.

The Slaters won a squeaker in the junior varsity prelim, 49-47.

Pro Gridders Outlaw Grab

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The National Football League made its first playing rule change in four years Tuesday when it outlawed grabbing the face mask of any opponent. The penalty will be 15 yards.

In the past it was legal to grab the face mask of the ball carrier only.

The league voted to adopt on an experimental basis a new electronic timing device to synchronize the official timer's watch with the clock on the field as the players requested. The device was developed by Clint Murchison Jr., president of the Dallas Cowboys.

Cage Bribes Reach Southern Tourneys; New Stars Named

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — An Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament and a Dixie Classic contest were involved in the recent nationwide game-fixing scandals, it was revealed here Tuesday.

Indictments returned by the Wake County grand jury Tuesday also mentioned the University of South Carolina and one of its players, Mike Callahan. Neither had been mentioned previously in the spreading scandal.

The grand jury returned 10 bills indicting 10 men on a total of 65 bribery counts. Solicitor (prosecutor) Lester Chalmers described them as participants in one of the "biggest gambling networks" in the nation.

Four Named

The indictments charged that one game was fixed in each of the two big Raleigh tournaments — the 1959 Dixie Classic, and the 1959 Atlantic Coast Conference Championship Tourney.

The indictments listed 10 games involving North Carolina State College, from Dec. 5, 1959, to Jan. 7, 1961, as having been fixed. Four players were said to have agreed with the gamblers to shave points.

One of the indictments said that Callahan was offered $1,000 to shave points in a game between South Carolina and N.C. State in the first round of the ACC tournament. Chalmers said Callahan refused the bribe.

State won the game 75-72. Callahan scored 17 points, hitting on four of 13 field goal attempts and nine of nine free throws.

The indictments also charged that in a Dixie Classic game played Dec. 28, 1959, between N.C. State and Dayton (Ohio) State player Don Gallagher was paid $1,000 to shave points. Dayton won 36-32.

Gallagher and three other former State players, Terry Litchford, Anton Muehlbauer and Stan Niewierski, had been mentioned previously in connection with the scandal. None was indicted.

State Bureau of Investigation agents have been dispatched to four cities—New York, St. Louis, Mo., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Biloxi, Miss.—to pick up six of the defendants. Three are under indictment in New York City and one is in Raleigh.

One of those indicted was Dave Louis Goldberg, about 46, of St. Louis. He is described by Chalmers as a top "backer," an underworld term meaning the supplier of pay-off money on a basketball fix.

Goldberg's bond was set at $5,000 for each of the 34 counts, a total of $170,000 on charges of bribery, conspiring to bribe and offering to bribe.

Also indicted on 34 counts was Steve Lekomeros, 39, of St. Louis, described by Chalmers as an associate of Goldberg's. Bonds totaling $170,000 were set.

Others indicted under one or more charges involving conspiracy to bribe, offering to bribe and bribery were:

Jake Israel of New York, N.Y., 10 counts, bonds totaling $30,000; Frank Cardone of Pittsburgh, Pa., seven counts, bonds totaling $35,000; Pete J. Martino of Biloxi, Miss., four counts, bonds totaling $20,000; Morris "Moe" Heysen of Pittsburgh, Pa., 10 counts, bonds totaling $50,000.

Also indicted on conspiracy charges were Joseph Eugene Greene, Aaron Wagman and Joseph Hacken, all of New York City.

Chalmers said later that FBI agents, cooperating with local officers, nabbed Goldberg and Lekomeros at St. Louis and Cardone and Heysen in Pittsburgh.

Also named in the indictments was Paul Walker of New York City, who is the only one of the suspects now in the hands of North Carolina authorities.

The solicitor said it usually took $5,000 to $8,000 to fix a game.

Largest Dividend Distribution

THE LARGEST single-month dividend distribution in the 20-year history of the United Funds group of mutual funds — $16,292,063 — was made in December, according to Cameron K. Reed, President.

Shareholders also received $19,523,436 in December, representing profits from portfolio transactions.

The December dividend total was 21 percent above the same month a year ago, and the capital gains distribution represented a 17 percent rise over the previous year.

Area Representative

Waddell & Reed, Inc., national distributor of the United Funds group, is represented in Stroudsburg by Carl F. Meissner and Thomas E. Long of East Stroudsburg.

Reed also announced that total dividends and capital gains distributions paid to United shareholders in 1961 set a new record.

Dividends paid to the shareholders of the four funds in the United Funds, Inc. group totaled $24,798,709 in 1961, compared with $23,493,325 the previous year. Capital gains distributions added up to $27,321,246, an increase of 4 million dollars over the previous year.

Included in the December payment was the annual year-end dividend distribution to approximately 190,000 United Accumulative Fund shareholders, and the quarterly dividend distribution to some 72,000 United Income Fund shareholders.

The Accumulative Fund shareholders received $14,194,803 in dividends, up nearly 2 1/2 million dollars from the previous December; and a total of $10,085,781 in securities profits, up nearly 2 million dollars from the previous December.

In their quarterly dividend distribution in December, Income Fund shareholders received $2,097,259 in dividends, an increase of $423,000 from a year ago; and $9,437,655 in securities profits, up about 1 million from last year.

Appointed Field Underwriter

ROBERT F. Singer, of Shawnee-on-Deleware, has been appointed by Monarch Life Insurance Co. as field underwriter in Monroe County and vicinity, working out of the company's Allentown branch office under the leadership of General Agent John R. DeRemer.

Singer brings to his new position a background of five years of successful insurance sales experience. Having completed both the two-year Life Underwriter Training Council course and Monarch's basic health insurance course, he is qualified to write all forms of business and personal health and life insurance.

A graduate of Stroudsburg High School, he attended Northwestern University and is married to the former Emma Jean Frailey of Stroudsburg. They have two children—a daughter, Sandra, and a son Jeffrey.

Singer is active in local affairs, serving as president of the Monroe County Life Underwriters Association, president of the Shawnee Volunteer Fire Co. and treasurer of the Stroudsburg Varsity "S" Club.

Sale Of Resorts Is Announced

NEW YORK (AP)—The Wolf Corp., a publicly-owned real estate company, announced Tuesday the purchase of resorts in Miami, Fla., and West End, N. J.

The transaction, of which more than $2 million was in cash, was for Harbor Island Spa South in Miami and Harbor Island Spa North in West End.

Both were to be sold on a long-term basis. Larry J. Paskow.

TOKYO (AP)—The government says Japan's self-defense force of six divisions and four brigades totaling 240,000 men will be regrouped into 13 smaller divisions to increase mobility.

State GOP Chances Seen Good To Elect Governor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said Tuesday Republican chances of electing a governor and senator in Pennsylvania this year are excellent.

"The political climate is such," Scott told a news conference, "that we select candidates who have the capacity to do the job and the personality to attract voters. We can win."

Possibilities

Scott said he had heard "some influential Pennsylvania Democrats" say the same thing.

Scott, commenting on the re-election bid of Democratic Sen. Joseph S. Clark for a second six-year term, said:

"Senator Clark will wage a vigorous, forceful campaign and will have the advantage of being the incumbent. But the Republican National Committee has listed him as one of three Democratic incumbents they are most hopeful of beating."

Scott mentioned Rep. James E. Van Zandt, Altoona Republican, and Thacher Longstreth, 1955 GOP candidate for mayor of Philadelphia, as Republican possibilities for the senatorial nomination.

In the race to succeed Democratic Gov. David L. Lawrence, Scott named several possible Republican candidates, with Van Zandt figuring prominently among them.

The others included Elkins Wetherill, Montgomery County commissioner, and Walter Alessandrini, Philadelphia, both of whom are announced candidates; and Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside and State Sen. William Z. Scott, R-Carbon.

Turning to national affairs, Scott said he favors a "new approach to foreign trade." He said he always has supported the reciprocal trade program and hopes he can again.

"Something will have to be worked out for us with the Common Market of Western Europe," he said. "In foreign trade we must determine the national welfare, but also take care of industries at home that may be harmed by freer trade with foreign companies."

"In the coming session, I will find it difficult to add to aid to India, Yugoslavia, a dam for Ghana, and other aid when Pennsylvania industry gets no consideration," said Scott.

Lafayette Fraternities Get Request

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gov. Lawrence called Tuesday for a re-dedication to the principles of the federal Constitution.

Lawrence, speaking at Independence Hall, said the Constitution "holds one truth for us all—and that truth is that the work of freedom is never finished."

"The nature of this country is such that each challenge met carries with it the ever more powerful challenge of a thousand tasks yet undone."

The occasion was a ceremony ratification of the constitution 175 years ago.

Each week, in the order in which the constitution was ratified, the governors of the various states are scheduled to speak at Independence Hall and present their state flags. The observance was started last week.

Youth Will Face Charge Of Murder

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Ran-dolph W. Lewis, 16, of the Uniontown area, faces a murder charge in the slaying of his uncle, Oliver Tate, 47, also of the Uniontown area.

The charge was filed yesterday before Alderman Jacob Ruben of Uniontown. The youth pleaded innocent, claiming a rifle went off accidentally.

Lewis told police a .22 caliber rifle he was holding fired early last Thursday in the home of Tate's brother-in-law, Jim Guthrie, in nearby Georges Twp., and the bullet struck Tate in the forehead while he was sleeping.

Police said Lewis fled to Cleveland in Tate's car after the shooting. He returned to Uniontown in another car with his mother, Mrs. Hanna Lewis of Cleveland, and some relatives who were unaware of the boy knew of the shooting, police said.

Lewis also was charged with larceny in the theft of the car, two rifles and a shotgun.

AUTO ODDITIES

Strange, but true tales about automobiles of the past

In 1906, Alphonse Constantini invented motor-driven roller skates, which would carry a man along at 40 miles per hour. At that speed, it was possible that a pedestrian might outrun an automobile, and thereby avoid being struck while jaywalking. Today, a careless pedestrian hasn't much protection against an approaching car. With pedestrian fatalities increasing to alarming proportions, it is imperative that motorists be especially alert, and that pedestrians walk and cross with the greatest care.

The Daily Investor

That Was Price

By William A. Doyle
Q. I bought some Public Service Electric & Gas 4 1/2 percent debentures, due in 1981, the first day that they were offered for sale. I paid $102.343 ($1,023.43 for each $1,000 bond) plus accrued interest.

Through your column I have learned that the buyer of a bond must pay any accrued interest that has built up on the bond. I don't complain about that. But I read in the paper that this offering did not go so well. So, why did I have to pay that premium price of $102.343?

A. Because that was the price at which those debentures were offered to the public.

To understand this, you have to take a look at the workings of the investment banking business. An underwriting syndicate of investment bankers bought the debentures ($50 million worth in this case) from Public Service E&G at one price.

Then, the underwriters offered the debentures for sale to the investing public at a slightly higher price. The price was set at $102.343—$1,023.43 per $1,000 bond.

That was a set price—as all syndicate offering prices are. It was not subject to change, as long as the offering remained "in syndicate." If all went well and the debentures were all sold, the investment bankers in the syndicate stood to make a nice profit. That's why they are in business.

But, as you learned from reading the financial pages, that particular offering did not go so well. All the debentures were not sold. Eventually, the underwriting syndicate was broken up and the "PEG 4 1/2s of '81" became available in the open market at below the syndicate offering price.

But you bought those debentures while they were being offered through the syndicate. So, naturally, you paid the syndicate offering price.

Don't be unhappy with the members of the underwriting syndicate. They took a beating, when they couldn't sell the debentures at the original offering price. That's the risk of the investment banking business.

Q. You wrote that each taxpayer has a $600 personal exemption, for Federal income tax purposes. You added that this exemption becomes $1,200 for a person 65 or over. My mother is 73. I am her sole support. I claim her as a dependent on my Federal income tax return.

I have listed her as a $600 dependent exemption. Can I list her as a $1,200 dependency exemption?

A. No. Don't get exemptions

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

confused with dependency exemptions.

Each taxpayer 65 or over is entitled to a $1,200 personal exemption from Federal income taxes. For instance, when both husband and wife are 65 or over and they file a joint Federal income tax return, they have total personal exemptions of $2,400.

And there is an additional $600 personal exemption for each taxpayer who is blind.

However, this does not carry over into dependency exemptions. They are an entirely different thing. The exemption you can claim for each dependent is limited to $600.

Banks In Guinea Nationalized

COAKRY, Guinea (AP)—The government nationalized Guinea's insurance companies and the last remaining private bank, the French-owned Banque Pour l'Afrique Occidentale yesterday.

Nationalization of the insurance companies included seizing the two largest and most modern buildings in Conakry, with an estimated worth of $40 million, plus a huge accumulation of funds rendered inconvertible in last year's withdrawal of Guinea from the franc zone.

The government has yet to announce any compensation.

Now General Steel Inc.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rolley Co. of San Francisco and Reno, Nev., announced it is changing its name to that of its most successful brand. It will be known as the Sea & Ski Co., division of Botany Industries, Inc. Sea & Ski is a suntan lotion.
